Of course Thomas Stieler is above all a DJ at heart it's his passion. This has clearly been on display since 2005 with an open-hearted, development-adorned definition of electro-acoustic sonic design.

His gift is in his ability to present his vision of technoid joi de vivre and house-flavored hip swing with a taste of the galant to the audience. He's not thirsty for the fleeting notoriety and peak time nonsense. Rather, for him it has everything to do with the sustainable potency of the celebration of house and techno. He comes as a noted, universal „weapon“ for those special thoughtful moments of the celebration. From an idyllic beginning in Saalfeld, Thomas Stieler is convinced that his hometown has more to offer than merely fine chocolate, manufacturing and elaborate caves...

In the region (and in the meantime, throughout many regions) he enjoys inarguably an official nimbus when it comes to quality management in regards to club design. This is put on display weekend for weekend as he puts his agility as an activist in front of and behind the office. Along with his own sonic fabrications, these are indeed worth much more than merely a Soundcloud patron leaving a positive comment.

Thomas is an authentic ‚convincer‘ in the electronic experience, infected by a pionier spirit and the yearning for the perfect groove on the decks, in the air and on the sea...
